BERLIN IN GLOOM AS PARIS REJOICES OVER RETREAT OF TEUTONS

Ban On Official News Causes Anxiety Throughout Germany - French Sing General Pau's Praises.

LONDON, Sept. 14. The Dally News Rotterdam correspondent telegraphs: "I learn Berlin is becoming very anxious about happenings on the Western frontier. News now is not published so freely by the Government, and although outwardly there is as calm a feeling as ever, great anxiety exists among the general public,

"This sudden restriction of public news when the public knows that a decisive battle has been fought both in the East and in the West is causing suspicion. Long lists of officers killed appear to the papers nightly and in some cases wellknown families have been wiped out."

GENEVA (by way of Paris) Sept. 14. News of the German retreat, despite every precaution, has passed through Switzerland to the north and has caused profound depression in Germany, after so many announced victories. According to advices received here, peo-ple have gathered in the streets in various German towns, shouting: "Tell us the truth! Give us the news!"

The newspaper offices at Munich have ben closed, as disorders are feared. It is also reported that the news of the steady retirement of the Germans in France has trickled into Berlin and benumbed the people.

Along the Swiss-German frontler the full extent of the German retreat is known. People are crying: "If the French have beaten us, what will the Russians

LONDON, Sept. 14.
Dispatches from Paris and Bordeaux to the London newspapers describe scenes of enthusiasm, mingled with the thankfulness of the populace, at the news of the German retreat.

The streets, the dispatches say, are full of people, all too overjoyed to express emotion by noise or singing, but men are seen embracing each other with fevror, while women give vent to their feelings by crying quietly. Everybody is amazed at the unexpected change in the tide of war and the fullest credit is given General Pau, who is re-garded as having, by prompt and decided strategy, changed the face of the campaign.

Everybody is asking what the Germans will do; whethey they will be able to reform their forces and make a stand, and what will become of the Crown Frince's army, tangled up in the wooded

It is understood that the factor which brought about the changes in the fortune of war was the new army which General Pau formed quickly and quietly at Ver sailles, composed of some of the best troops from the eastern frontier and a fine body of cavalry. This army marched through Paris northward and then turned northeast. Its effect was felt at once.

URGE APPROPRIATION FOR PHILADELPHIA HOSPITAL

Feared City Will Lose Supremacy as Great Medical Centre.

Leading medical men throughout the city are unanimous in their conviction that Philadelphia will lose its supremacy as a great medical centre of this country unless provisions are made in the current loan for necessary improvements to the Philadelphia General, Hospital. Physicians prominent in medical circles deplore the antiquated facilities available at the hospital. They point out that like institutions in other cities which are striving for the enviable position long held by Philadelphia will forge ahead and at-tain that honor unless the buildings and equipment at Blockley are greatly aug-mented and renovated.

In an effort to prevent this city from losing its notable position in the medical world members of the Philadelphia General Hospital staff have renewed their efforts to have the municipal authorities do something for the general improvement of the institution

The institution at present is antiquated. although maintained under the very best stuspices possible, and falls far short in every requirement of a modern hospital Director Harte has urgently presented a request for $1,000,000. He contends that with anything less than that stipulated sum nothing more than the deplorable system of making small, inadequate additions and patching here and there could be accomplished. Thus, after ex-penditures along those lines have been made, the institution would still remain an old and imperfect one without a sin-

MARK TWAIN'S OWN IDEA OF THE DEFENSES OF PARIS

Had the Germans possessed the war map, which accompanies this article. Paris would have been in their hands by now. The map, the chef d'oeuvre of Mark Twain, was drawn by him and by the exercise of superhuman ingenuity, also engraved by him. It is true that it is somewhat askew, but as General Nelson O. Miles, who never saw the man is reported to have said:

"It was fully as useful in 1870 when it was drawn, as it is today."

The map was published in the Buffalo. N. Y., Express, of which Twain was owner, on September 17, 1870, and Twain's description follows, together with some testimonials, even more enthusiastic than that of General Miles:

TO THE READER. The above map explains itself.

The idea of this map is not original with me, but is borrowed from the Tribune and the other great metropolitan I claim no other merit for this production (if I may so call it) than that it is accurate. The main blemish of the city paper maps, of which it is an imitation, is that in them more attention seems paid o artistic picturesqueness than geographcal reliability.

Inasmuch as this is the first time I ever ried to draft and engrave a map, or at-empt anything in the line of art at all, he commendations the work has received and the admiration it has excited among the people have been very grateful to my by far the most enthusiastic of these praises have come from people who know nothing at all about art.

By an unimportant oversight I have engraved the map so that it reads wrong end first, except to left-handed people. I forgot that in order to make it right in print it should be drawn and engraved upside down. However, let the student who desires to contemplate the map stand on his head or hold it before her looking glass. That will bring it right.

lost so much work. I never had so much trouble with any thing in my life as I did with this map. I had heaps of little fortifications scattered all around Paris, at first, but every now and then my instruments would slip and fetch away whole miles of battered and leave the vicinity as clean as if the Prussians had been there.

The reader will find it well to frame this man for future reference, so that it may aid in extending popular intelligence and dispelling the widespread ignorance of the day of the day. MARK TWAIN.

TAX ON BEER HERE WOULD AMOUNT TO $1,250,000

Philadelphia Produces 2,500,000 Barrels of Beverage Annually.

Philadelphia would have to pay about 1,250,000 as its share of the proposed war tax on beer. The tax would be o cents on a barrel of beer, of which beverage this city produces 3,600,000 barrels nnually. The annual entire output of beer throughout the country is about 6,000,000 barrels.

Brewers in this city today declined to liscurs the action they were likely to take to meet the new tax should the bill in which it is empodied become law. It was evident, however, from their general attitude that they would increase the price of beer to the retailer. The additional tax of 20 cents on a gal ion of wins will have little if no effect on the price of wines, dealers said today. The tax is too small to warrant an advation in prices. Owing to the war, wine imports have greatly decreased. This
